INTOLERANCE FITTINGLY REBUKED.

A demagogue may be harmless, though irritating. Also he may be mischievous and extremely dangerous. Usually Senator Heflin of Alabama is merely amusing or at most irritating. But when the Alabama senator precipitated a religious discussion in connection with consideration of the Mexican problem he took dangerous ground.

There is nothing more repugnant to the fundamental ideals of the American government than religious intolerance. Religious prejudice is hateful when it causes controversy between individuals. It is more hateful when it reaches the stage of public agitation. It is detestible when it assumes the form of organized propaganda against an established and accepted religion. But it is most reprehensible of all when it is voiced in the halls of legislation.

Senator Heflin chose to precipitate a religious debate at a most critical time, a time when both partisan politics and personal prejudices should be entirely subordinated to considerations of public policy. Just when the President was doing his utmost to protect American lives and American rights in a foreign country and at the same time preserve peaceful relations with a disturbed ally of that country, the Alabama senator chose to attribute ulterior motives, religious motives, to his policy.

For this false attribution the offender was rebuked promptly and severely by colleagues on his own side of the chamber. His punishment was swift, just and exemplary. The harm he might have done was minimized if not wholly averted by the castigation administered by Senator Reed, Senator Bruce, Senator Walsh, Senator Ashurst and Senator Ransdell, Catholics and Protestants, and all Democrats.

Heflin was more than intolerant; he was unstatesmanlike if not recklessly unpatriotic. Ostensibly seeking to avert war, his utterances were calculated to cause misunderstandings and manifestations that might lead to war. It is traditional that when the United States has been obliged to declare war, congress has stood squarely with the President, party lines and other internal considerations being laid aside in the common cause of national defense. Is it not equally important—perhaps even more important—to stand by the President, to leave him unhampered, when he is doing his utmost, in a crisis, to avoid war?—Kansas City Times.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER.
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—Some day you really must come over to Washington to see the smile of the Hon. Smith Wildman Brookhart, senator-elect from Iowa.

The Hon. Smith Wildman Brookhart's smile was on display at the meeting of the Interstate Commerce Committee before which he defended himself from the charges of the Hon. Daniel F. Steck.

Brookhart was senator from Iowa before Steck will be senator from Iowa after Steck, and would be senator from Iowa instead of Steck right now had not Steck been given the decision in a long, drawn-out election contest. Steck, a Democrat, owes his seat to the fact that many thousands of Republicans knifed the then insurgent Brookhart.

The feeling of brotherly love between these gentlemen, apparently revealing that of a couple of strange bulldogs from the start, was not at all concealed when Steck arose on the Senate floor to accuse Brookhart of being a paid lobbyist for Cyrus Woods as Interstate Commerce Commissioner and for agricultural interests alleged to be paying his expenses.

Steck withdrew the charge regarding Wood and Brookhart made him look silly when Steck sought to defend himself for raising the other. It was too bad. The second hearing on the charges was unofficially announced as "the final massacre of Steck." And so it was. Brookhart pounded the table and bathed Steck in his scorn and Steck's comeback was feeble.

The Brookhart smile was to be seen as Steck presented his flimsy case. In repose, the map of the Hon. Smith Wildman Brookhart makes New Hampshire's Great Stone Face seem to be laughing out loud. But when Brookhart looked at the unhappy Steck across the committee table and smiled, he appeared for all the world like a vengeful Cuban watching his daughter's murderer die slowly in the garotte.

Dry Law a Joke, Says Former Topeka Mayor

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 20.—Jay E. House, former mayor of Topeka, declares there is no question about the swing of the prohibition pendulum.

"Maybe it isn't so apparent in Kansas," he said, "but in the east prohibition is becoming more of a joke every day—if you can call such a tragic thing a joke."

During the course of a dinner recently given in Topeka the speaker asked House if he was still a Republican.

"I'm a wet," he replied.

15 Farmers Turn to Poultry-Dairy Plan

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 20.—As the first colony project of the Missouri Association "For greater Missouri" a group of fifteen farmers will soon engage in poultry, fruit raising and dairying if suitable tracts can be secured, according to George A. Pickens, general secretary of the organization. A number of alfalfa farmers of the northwest are said to be the first enlisted in the project.

James Gray Sent to State Hospital

Acting upon a request of neighbors in Washington township the county court today committed James Gray, age 78, of Washingotn township, to the state hospital No. 2 at St. Joseph.

He was taken to St. Joseph this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff John Rasco, of Barnard.

Gray, who has been living alone on his place, was given the opportunity of going to the county farm, but refused this offer. He was sent to St. Joseph because of his inability to take care of himself.

J. T. Bloom Here For Conferences

Members Of Faculty Of Leadership School at Christian Church Leave Tomorrow.

J. T. Bloom of St. Joseph, came today to conduct a conference of deacons and elders at the First Christian Church at 5 o'clock this afternoon. He will talk at the church at 8:20 o'clock tonight.

Miss Imo Evans of Lathrop, young people's leader, who is here as an instructor in the leadership Conference which is being held at the church this week, talked to the meeting of the parent-teacher workers at the Washington School this afternoon. The Rev. Harold G. Barr of Liberty sang at the meeting. Mr. Evans leaves in the morning for his home at Liberty. Miss Evans, Miss Eva Callarman of Des Moines, and S. W. Hutton of St. Louis will leave tomorrow night.

Miss Evans visited the State Teach-Teachers College here yesterday and also visited the Douglas school. "Maryville had a good school for colored children and you have a splendid teacher," she declared.

Miss Evans was the dinner guest of Miss Augusta Quell Tuesday night. Miss Evans was an instructor in a training school held here several years ago. During her stay here she has been a guest at the home of Mrs. French. Miss Callarman has been a house guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Richey.

Mr. Hutton and Mr. Barr have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Miller.

John Mahoney is ill at his home on East First street. Mr. Mahoney is 80 years old.

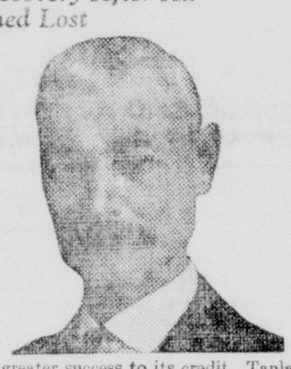
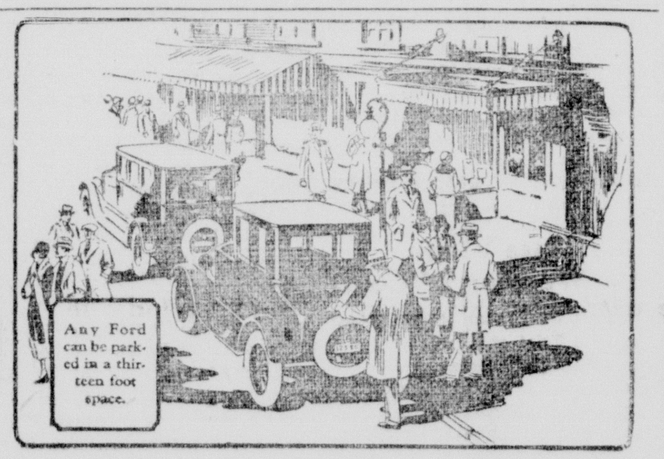
Topeka Business Man—Manufacturer and Aviator—Recites Wonderful Recovery After All Hope Seemed Lost



"My health failed me," writes Mr. Daniel Fry, widely known business man of 1510 West 8th Street, Topeka, Kansas, "while I was completing my 37th year with the Santa Fe Railway. The Company sent me to the hospital. I was given just 10 days to live.
"My stomach was so weakened I couldn't retain anything. I couldn't sleep. I was just skin and bones.
"Yet I fooled them all. Happening to hear of Tanlac, I started taking it. Tanlac soon made me rest well at night, and after about four bottles I began to eat with a relish, was soon enjoying my food, had no stomach trouble, and gained my weight back.
"Though offered my old job back, I first went farming—worked 80 acres successfully—then started making airplanes and flying them—got a Government's 100% pilot recommendation—and now am operating my own auto laundry business."
Tanlac has many such cases of restoration to health, new life and greater success to its credit. Tanlac is nature's own remedy, made from roots, barks and herbs. It is a wonderful tonic, praised by thousands of men and women in Kansas and elsewhere. If you are in poor health, and suffering, ask your druggist for Tanlac—today!



The Car for Business

There's double economy in buying a Ford for business. It costs little to buy and little to operate—that saves money. It is most flexible in traffic, and it can be parked wherever there is a thirteen foot space—that saves time.

The coupe has abundant stowage space for grips and sample cases where they are protected against weather and safe from tampering. And, when service is required the nearest service is always Ford service. Let us give you a demonstration—free of course. See the beautiful new colors—the new Pyroxylin finish standard on Fords.

IN SOCIETY

Mother's Club.

The Mother's Club of the M. E. Church, South, met at the home of Mrs. T. H. Leet yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Charley Forsythe, vice-president, presided at the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Charles Vance. A round table discussion on moral courage and honesty was led by Mrs. Donald Smith and Mrs. Forsythe. At the conclusion of the lesson a duet was sung by Morris Forsythe and Norval Smith. During the social hour refreshments of hot meat loaf, hot potato rolls, cherry nut salad, cakes and coffee were served by the hostess. Mrs. Glen Woodburn was a guest, and the following members were present: Mrs. I. E. Tulloch, Mrs. E. R. Pyles, Mrs. Earl Henderson, and daughter, Mary, Mrs. Joe Cornell and son, Roland, Mrs. Lee Peters and daughter, Margaret, Mrs. Donald Smith and children, Norval and Roberta, Mrs. Charles Forsythe and children, Blanche, Harold and Morris, Mrs. W. D. Williams and children, Gara and Bobby, and the hostess and children, Charlotte, Helen, Barbara and Richard.

Mowry W. W. W. Club.

The Mowry W. W. W. Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Irvin Loch yesterday afternoon. During the business session it was decided to have a Valentine box at the next business meeting. Verses on the Valentines will form the roll call responses. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Will Berkey. These members were present: Mrs. Orlen Kelley, Mrs. Charles Hinton, Mrs. Walter Runnels, Mrs. Will Berkey, Mrs. Dennis McGinness, Mrs. Sham McGuire, Mrs. Frank Howard, Mrs. Albert Simmons, Mrs. Champ Rice, Mrs. Denver McGinness and Mrs. Frank Hinton. Others present were Orlen Clayton and Sarah Ruth Kelley, Doris Hinton, Eugene Loch, and Miss Audrey McGuire. Mrs. Dennis McGinness will be hostess at a social meeting on Feb. 2.

Enders-Andrews.

Ellis Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Andrews, and Miss Jennie Enders drove to New Hampton last Saturday where they were married by Rev. Ben Gillespie, a former pastor of the Christian church of this city.

Immediately after the ceremony, they drove back to Hopkins and will make this city their home.

The groom will continue his studies in the Hopkins high school while the bride will continue to teach in the vicinity of Siam.—Hopkins Journal.

The bridegroom formerly attended the State Teachers College in Maryville.

Skidmore Frolickers Club.

Members of the Skidmore Frolickers Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Douglas Haynes Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Everett Linville made high score in the bridge game, played at three tables. Refreshments were served after the game, Miss Grace Foster assisting the hostess. Guests of the club were Miss Lois McClanahan, Miss Dora Albright, Mrs. Ellis Wells, Mrs. J. C. Manning, Mrs. H. W. Montgomery and Mrs. Harry Hoblitzell. The following members were present: Miss Edith Porter, Miss Grace Foster, Mrs. Everett Linville, Mrs. Robert Wells, Mrs. Harry Mitchell, Mrs. W. J. Skidmore, and the hostess. Miss Edith Porter will be hostess to the club Feb. 8.

Epworth Class.

The January meeting of the Epworth Class of the First Methodist Church was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. F. Montgomery on West Third street, with Mrs. George Moore and Mrs. George Lucas as joint hostesses. In answer to roll call, the members gave Bible verses. Miss Eva Hatfield, who was a guest, gave three readings. Mrs. J. N. Geyer, another guest, was received into membership. The remainder of the afternoon was spent socially and refreshments were served by the hostesses. Twenty members were in attendance. Mrs. J. P. Price will be hostess at the February meeting.

Graduating Class Entertained.

Miss Mabel Messick, sponsor of the mid-year graduating class of the Maryville High School, honored the members with a party last night at her home on East First street. The guests were entertained at progressive games, after which refreshments were served. The class members included Mildred Wiles, Emily Martin, Alice Swinford, Beatrice Hansen, Jack Gray, Paris Phipps, Ned Swinford, Homer Gile, Cornelius Stillwell, George Hall, Paul Whaley, Eugene Howard, and Howard Bryant. Miss Augusta Quell of the high school faculty was an additional guest.

For Clarinda Visitors.

Mrs. T. A. Culley and daughter, Dorothy Ann, of Clarinda, Ia., were the guests of honor at a party given last night by Mrs. Art Hill at her home in Skidmore. Somerset was the diversion for the evening and refreshments of hot chocolate and wafers were served. There were twenty-four guests. Mr. and Mrs. Culley and daughter are moving from Clarinda to Kansas City. The are former residents of Skidmore.

Mrs. Mapel Hostess.

Mrs. William L. Mapel will be hostess to the Friday Afternoon Bridge Club tomorrow afternoon at her home on West Seventh street.

Hopkins iLght Lines Now Being Rebuilt

(Hopkins Journal)

Three car loads of poles and hundreds of pounds of new wire is already here to be used in rebuilding the lines in Hopkins of the Maryville Light & Power Company.

Men are now busy loading poles under the supervision of the company's foreman, a Mr. Drew, who is here to superintend the rebuilding of the lines.

The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible but of course as much cannot be accomplished in a given time with the ground frozen like it is now as could be accomplished in warm weather, but more men will be used in hurrying the completion of the work.

New transformers will be installed and the service promises to be wonderfully improved when the work as now planned is completed.

Hopkins pays the company thousands of dollars for light and power in the course of a year and the town is entitled to the very best service possible and here's hoping the service will be even better than is pictured on paper.

"Watch Your Step" at Home As Well as Anywhere Else

"If the home is well ordered, and things are in their places, there should be few falls," declared Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health official today, "and yet falls are very common accidents. Many falls do little damage, but some may be very serious. A fall may break a hip, or sprain an ankle, or cause a serious wound. It may even cause death.

"Such serious accidents sometimes arise," explained the physician," from the simple fact that something has been put where it has no business to be. Keep brooms, pails, coal scuttles, and everything else where it belongs, and no one will fall over them. It is easier to be orderly than to pay doctor bills.

"See that the furniture is in place, do not leave a chair where a person entering a room in the dark will fall over it. Protect the children by putting guards outside the high windows, and have gates on stairways to prevent babies from rolling down.

"Do not have rugs on slippery floors. Water spilled on the floors may cause bad falls; wipe it up at once. Grease or cakes of soap are dangerous. Loose carpets are equally bad; tack them down. Sprinkle sand, ashes or sawdust on ice steps. An insecure ladder is unsafe, and barrels, boxes, tables and rocking chairs used in place of ladders are even less safe.

"Watch your step—that is as necessary at home as elsewhere.

"Many home injuries are caused by fire or boiling water. Children should not be allowed to play with matches, to carry lighted lamps, or to take pots or pans containing boiling water from the stove. Flannelet is dangerous for night dresses unless it has been fireproofed, as its soft fuzz catches fire very easily. Cleaning gloves with gasoline in the presence of a light has caused many explosions and fires. Clothing hanging before a fire may catch fire when it gets dry. Putting lighted lamps under shelves has resulted in the loss of many homes.

"In case a fire starts in a room, close all doors and windows to prevent a draft. Give the alarm promptly. A few pails of water thrown on at first may do more good than thousands of gallons later. A blaze may often be smothered with a rug or blanket."

Business Man's Dream Brings A Reply. Why Not Do It Now, Asks Approving Subscriber

Editor Democrat-Forum:

What a fine dream that Maryville business man had the other night! And why can't Maryville citizens get busy and make an effort to see if we can accomplish, not all, perhaps, but many of the things suggested. Now is as good a time as any.

Along this line it might be well to point out a speech recently made in Kirksville my Roy S. Rauschbalk of the civic development department of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce. He stated that a community will prosper more by building up its local industries, working to secure more students in its Colleges and co-operating with the farmers in bettering agricultural conditions than by securing outside industries through the payment of a bonus. In speaking about securing factories, he stated that in 1900 to 1921 the number of factories was reduced from 8500 to 5400 and during the next three years this number was further reduced to 5200, there being a tendency toward consolidation of factories and the branch factory idea is being forgotten.

Mr. Rauschbalk was not in favor of the plan of giving a bonus to secure a factory, as it had proven to be bad business. Many places which had secured factories by means of a bonus have later found out that they had lost in the transaction. He stated that the main idea was to sell a community to an industry, and if they were to be had, they would come. He stated that an industrial survey was necessary before factories could be secured.

The best thing was to encourage the home industries and help build them up. More students for the College would mean more money for the city each year.

Another thing is the individual's responsibility to his community, the speaker adding that the average business man is too much engrossed in his own business to look after the business of a community, and therefore the necessity for a Chamber of Commerce. Each citizen owes his personal service to the Chamber of Commerce; the Chamber is the clearing house for a community and each one should do his part to aid the organization.

More dairying in this county, more chickens and eggs, better methods in farming, are just a few things along agricultural lines.

For Maryville, more pavement, beautifying the city, securing a city park with a playground, are just a few things within easy reach of this city.

What do you think about it? Let's get busy and go.

LESS LIQUOR AS MEDICINE

PRESCRIPTIONS TOTAL SLIGHTLY LESS IN 1926.

NEW YORK IS LEADER

Illinois Is Second and Pennsylvania Third—Twelve States Prohibit Use Even as Medicine.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Physicians in twenty-six states prescribed more than 1,588,954 gallons of medicinal spirits for their patients last year, compared with 1,659,866 gallons in 1925 the treasury department announced today.

There are now 88,006 doctors liscensed to prescribe liquor for medicinal use and allowed to give 100 prescriptions every three months. These medicine dispensers wrote 12,995,327 liquor prescriptions last year.

Whisky prescribed for medicinal use totalled 1,531,325 gallons compared with 1,606,547 gallons in 1925; brandy 13,469 gallons compared with 12,054; and wine 35,145 gallons compared with 32,739 gallons. Alcohol, rum and gin were prescribed in smaller amounts.

Twelve states prohibit sale and manufacture of intoxicants for medicinal purposes and ten others prohibit sale and manufacture of any intoxicant, except pure grain alcohol for medicinal uses.

Federal statistics showed that New York got more medicinal liquor permits than any other state. Physicians in that state made out 3,125,184 prescriptions.

Illinois was second with 2,188,941; Pennsylvania third with 1,194,55; California next with 1,044,573, and Massachusetts fifth with 717,711 prescriptions.

At a reorganization meeting this morning of the Claytonian Literary Society of the Maryville High School, Lauron Yeo was elected president. Miss Laura B. Hawkins, sponsor for four years, will continue in that capacity.

Other officers chosen were:

Jack Sorrie, vice-president; George McMurray, secretary; Victor Mumma, treasurer; Charles Kissinger, sergeant-at-arms.

Wilson Dowden, Edward Dietz and Glenn Litsch were appointed to serve on the program committee.

OUR COLLEGE

What The Students Out On The Hill Are Doing

Glee club work at the College is to receive a decided boost if plans outlined by Charles R. Gardner, director of the Conservatory of Music, are carried out. Mr. Gardner will spend this week-end in Columbia in conference with Dean Quarles of the School of Fine Arts, University of Missouri. There is a plan now to divide the United States into nine sections, and the local College has been invited to belong to one of these sections.

It is planned to hold contests, and matters pertaining to this took Mr. Gardner to Columbia. He will return Sunday.

The matter of an alteration in school colors at the College is still dominant in the minds of some of the students. There has been a great deal of discussion on the matter and the Student Council has ruled against the proposal to add black to the school colors of green and white.

The matter is now before the Faculty Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics, and its decision will likely be given the first of next week.

Uel W. Lamkin, president of the College is the chairman of the building committee of the Missouri State Teachers Association. This week the building committee let contracts for the construction of a new $50,000 home for the association in Columbia. This will be the first building in the United States to be built by a state teachers association.

Miss Helen Dvorak, violin teacher in the Conservatory of Music, is working a new plan to accustom her students to playing before strangers. Miss Dvorak allows students and other persons to attend her class recitals, and in this manner the students get used to seeing other faces than those of the members of the class.

The Campus Comedies will be given at the College tomorrow night. These Comedies are a series of "stunts" given by the various organizations of the school. It has become an annual custom. Last year the Campus Comedies were sponsored by the staff of the Tower, College annual. This year they are sponsored by the Student Council.

At the basketball game last night it was noticed that the College band was larger than usual. An interesting sidelight on this is the fact that the members of the band are given complimentary tickets to all games. However, they have their activity tickets for most of the games, and they do not play in the band. On last night, however, the activity tickets were not good, so the band was larger. Human nature!

The Student Council at the College will have its regular meeting in the recreation room of the administration building tonight.

What Jerry Says

I also had a little dream,
One night when all was still;
But I didn't have an air-ship—
To show me Maryville.

And so I had to hot-foot
To every thing I spied,
Nobody with an auto said—
"Come, Jerry, take a ride."

A glass of Virgil Hartness' milk,
Was all I had to drink;
So I could see quite clearly,
The things I passed, I think.

The snow was on the side walks,
To stay there until spring;
Or 'till the sunshine thawed it off,
—But—that's a common thing.

The old courthouse still standing,
Where, in its paneless dome;
The snow and rain could enter,
And pigeons made their home.

The plaster fallen from the walls;
The paper, it appears,
Has been right where it is today
For more than forty years.

I stumbled through the corridor,
On loose slabs stubbed my toes;
And a smell of sour toilets
Most everywhere you go.

The doors creaked on their hinges,
Held by wire, chains and straps;
But that would be expected—
In (Arkansas) perhaps.

I took a stroll down Main street,
But really was afraid;
The traffic was so crowded,
Going to St. Joe to trade.

I met a covered auto there,
And on each side it said,
In great big, gilded letters—
"EAT MORE MERIT BREAD."

As though our own home bakers
Were worked almost to death,
Couldn't near supply demands
Nor stop to take a breath.

I dreamed I saw the commerce club,
Where speeches oft were made
About the things we ought to have,
But each one was afraid.

That if they put a dollar in,
They wouldn't get back two;
So from that stand-point couldn't tell
Just what was best to do.

I dreamed I saw the welfare board,
And all their hands were tied,
Because the tight-wads' dollars
Could not from them be pried.

So the widows and the orphants,
The lame, the blind, and halt
Just lived on city water—
With a little grain of salt.

At six next morning I awoke,
As I will sometimes do;
And when I stumbled up to town,
Behold—the dream was true.

S. T. C. RALLY FALLS SHORT

BEARCATS TRAIL CATHOLIC COMMUNITY CLUB BY 4 POINTS.

FINAL SCORE IS 38-34

Crack Kansas City Team Finds "Below Par" Basketball Here Still Plenty Good.

If, as the Kansas City Star says, Maryville College basketball is below par, it was a good thing for the Catholic Community Club team of Kansas City last night. For, had Maryville basketball been at par (according to the Star's standards) the Tripple C.s would have gone home with a sound drubbing tucked under their belts.

For the Catholics, much-touted team of Kansas City, came here last night and won a hard, driving basketball game, 38 to 34. There is no sting in defeat for the College Bearcats, who once before this season were defeated by the C. C. C., but by a 22 to 42 score. Smarting under the insinuation that they were "below par," the Bearcats went out last night and gave the visitors a great, big scare, and came near to winning one of the fastest games ever played on the new gymnasium floor.

Visitors An Hour Late.

Somewhat less than a thousand basketball fans hastened to the gymnasium early last night in order to start at 8 o'clock. But the Kansas Citians were late, and the fans had to wait an hour.

"But it was wuth th' waitin'," as one old-timer put it, for after the game did get under way the spectators set on the edge of their seats for forty minutes, and were almost too weak to move at the end of it.

In one sense the game was a rousing victory for the Bearcats, for they fought against odds to score what they did. At the beginning of the game, Old Lady Hard Luck was with them, and a half-dozen easy shots either bounded off the rim of the basket or went in and then came out again.

The Clubbers started the scoring after about two minutes of play. They scored twice before Ungles opened for Maryville. From then on it was a battle all through the first half. When the period was almost over, the Maryville team overcame the tripple C.'s lead and once the score was 15-14 against the visitors. But a pair of sleepers at the end of the half, along with a free toss, aided Fetting, Ford and Co. materially, and the score was 20-15 when the period ended.

Gong's Clang Muffled.

H. L. Raines, the timer, again had difficulty in stopping play at the end of the half. Armed with a huge gong, he felt that his signal could be heard above any roar. But he placed the gong under his table, and the sound was deadened.

At the beginning of the second half, he brought the big, 20-inch bell out on top of the desk. It was the gong which had once announced closing time at the old Oak Saloon. As he rang it to start the second half, six middle-aged Maryville business men were seen to rise from their seats and start for home.

The second half of the game witnessed a beautiful comeback on the part of the Maryville team. Hedges, forward, started the period with a field goal to raise Maryville's score to seventeen.

Then the Triple C.'s began to score. Long shots, short shots, pot shots and blind shots fell through the hoop in quick succession, and Maryville was neither able to halt the scoring spree nor to score in retaliation.

Score Nearly Doubled.

The count mounted, and with but seven minutes left to play the visitors had almost doubled the score. The count stood 32-17.

Hedges and Ungles were taken from the game for a moment's rest and Davison and Lisle, pony forwards, went in for them. But for only a moment. Soon the regulars were back. Ferguson replaced Burks at center to allow the pivot man to catch his breath.

Then Maryville started to beat its way back. The breach gradually closed, with Maryville "runnin' wild" and the Catholics unable to stop the drive.

Closer came the score, and finally Maryville was but two points behind. This was as close as the Bearcats came to victory. The timer's gong sounded shortly afterward, and the game was over.

Boy, what a battle!

Les Davis, an assistant football coach at the University of Kansas, did his best to referee. He missed more than one foul committed by each team. Many Maryville fans blame him for the defeat, but it seemed that he was trying his best.

Team Works Together.

There were no stars for Maryville. The players worked as a team. Ungles and Hedges at forward, Burks at center, and Captain Joy and Berst at guards were all outstanding. They outdid themselves and gladdened the heart of the crowd. Ferguson, who substituted at guard, played well, and Lisle and Davison were full of the battling spirit.

Each team made fourteen field goals. Maryville committed eleven fouls to eight for the visitors, and therein lay the margin of victory. Ungles was taken from the game near its end on personal fouls.

Girls' Line-Up for Tarkio Game Changed

Puckett and Wray to Start at Forward. —Chick Has Injury to Knee but Will Play Part Time.

Beatrice Puckett and Catherine Wray will start at the forward positions in the game which the Maryville High School basketball girls will play tomorrow night with the Tarkio High School girls, on the latter's court.

R Dell Chick, one of the most dependable scorers for the Spoofkitties, injured her knee in the game with Rosendale last Saturday night, has been out of practice this week, but her injury is not serious and she will play part of the game at Tarkio, Miss Ruth Bookman, coach, announced today.

Leola Miller will start as jumping center, and Charmion Murray as running center. The guards will be Neola Smith and Florence Wray.

The girls will make the trip by automobile. Results of the game will be received by telephone at the Democrat-Forum.

Last year the Maryville girls won two games from the Tarkio sextet. "They may beat us this year, but we hope not," said Coach Bookman.

Four M. I. A. A. Teams in Action This Week

Warrensburg Meets Springfield and Kirksville Plays at Cape.—Mules Already Have Two Victories.

The Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association basketball race is swinging into action. After this week all of the teachers college teams with the exception of the Maryville Bearcats will have been seen in conference games.

The Maryville team does not open its conference season until next Friday and Saturday nights, against Springfield here.

Tonight Springfield and Warrensburg will meet at Springfield, and tomorrow night Kirksville will play at Cape Girardeau.

Warrensburg and Cape have already appeared in two conference games. The Mules went to Cape last week-end and won a pair of victories. The first game ended 31 to 29, and the second was a 34-31 tilt. In this game the score was tied at the end of the game, and a play-off was necessary.

Virginia Miller to Lead Lyceum Club

Virginia Miller, beginning freshman, was elected as the new president of the Lyceum Club of the Maryville High School. John Lee Cockayne, who also has just entered the high school as a beginning freshman, was made vice-president. Doris Snodgrass is secretary and Virginia Tulloch the treasurer. Mrs. Vern Manley is sponsor.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hocker of Guilford were Maryville visitors today.

The Web of Fear

By John Goodwin

Copyright 1926 King Feature Syndicate, Inc.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

Through a plot engineered by James Mulholland and five aides, Ames, Chester, Quantrill, Fenne and Vereker, Robert Masterton, accused of selling government secrets, is sentenced to 12 years hard labor in Atlanta prison. His millionaire grandfather is the only one who believes him innocent. A beautiful and wealthy young woman, Cynthia Knowles, is greatly affected by the verdict. The plotters think they are perfectly safe with Masterton behind the bars. Vereker is arrested and sentenced to three years in Atlanta. Cynthia confesses to Mulholland that her love for Masterton is dead and her life is ruined. She agrees to marry Mulholland. Masterton's grandfather dies and leaves him six million dollars. Fenne demands money from Mulholland who brutally thrusts him aside. A few hours after Cynthia is married she receives a note accusing Mulholland of engineering Masterton's conviction. Mulholland cannot convince her of his innocence, and she locks him out of her room. Vereker, dying in prison, offers proofs to free Masterton. He ask's Masterton's forgiveness and receives it after giving him the names of the conspirators. Masterton solemnly promises that he will not invoke the law but will take vengeance into his own hands. Back in New York Masterton befriends Sadie Hicks, hungry and looking for a job, and accidentally learns from her that Cynthia has married Mulholland. He gives Sadie a job as his secretary and declines an offer to take up his old duties. He sees Mulholland, Quantrill, Ames and Chester dining at the Ritz, greets them as though they were friends and walks over to Cynthia who is dining in another part of the room. He drives home with her. She tries to atone for her lack of faith in him. He tells her she is the only woman he will ever love. Mulholland joins them and learns that Cynthia has told Masterton of the anonymous accusation. On his way home Fenne meets Masterton and asks him to his room, promising to give him valuable information. Chester goes to see Fenne the next morning and finds him murdered. Quantrill, Ames and Chester begin to fear Masterton's vengeance. Fenne is declared a suicide and the conspirators plan to make an ally of Talbot, Masterton's valet. Ames has a talk with Talbot.

Mulholland rose from his chair and came nearer. Cynthia shrank almost imperceptibly.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER 21

Talbot's Price

The recess was empty. Ames seated himself, and inspected the valet with a judging eye.

"Are you ambitious, Talbot?" he asked.

"Naturally, I wish to get on, sir."

"You have a very good job at present."

"I am paid good wages, sir."

"How long would it take you as a valet to save $5,000?"

Talbot opened his eyes wide, and then half closed them.

"A good many years, sir I fear," he sighed. "Even with what we term 'pickings'—which some masters object to, while others do not—such an amount takes a very long time to get together."

"I am not one of those who object to pickings," said Ames, "what would you do with $5,000, Talbot?"

"Why, sir," murmured Talbot, "it is a very useful sum, indeed, and if I had it added to my own small savings, I should retire and start a small business."

"You are a very intelligent fellow, as I have always judged you to be," replied Ames thoughtfully. "Now, I am going to make myself quite plain. You are a good valet, but I don't want you in my service. It would suit me better if you remained in Mr. Masterton's."

Talbot gazed at the speaker, apparently mystified.

"Don't stare like that; you understand very well what I mean," said Ames, dropping his voice a tone. "There are, I am convinced, certain important papers relating to Fenne, at present in the hands of Mr. Masterton. They will be quite unmistakable. If you can get hold of those papers, and show me they are what I want—I will pay you $5,000 for them on delivery.

"Here is $250," said Ames, drawing a small wad of notes from his pocket, "as an earnest of the business; we will call it your retainer."

It was the crucial moment. Talbot looked at the notes. Then he put out a hand and felt them. When he had done that, they somehow became absorbed into his waistcoat pocket.

"One will do one's best, sir," he murmured. "Have you any further instructions?"

"No. I shall have to leave ways and means entirely to you. All I require is that the papers, if you get them, shall be handed to me by you in person. No one else has any part in this."

Talbot sat perfectly motionless, evidently thinking hard. Ames respected his silence, and lit another cigarette. It was quite two minutes before the valet delivered himself.

"It's like this, sir," said Talbot. "Supposing my master has got what you want—which is quite likely—it won't be here in New York. I happen to know that he keeps everything he particularly values now, in another place."

"At that house he's bought in Westchester?"

"That's it, sir. Now, you said the job would be easy and safe. It may be fairly easy for me in my position. But safe isn't quite the word. Mr. Masterton is rather a peculiar gentleman to—if I may use the word—to monkey with. I'll have to wait till we're both up there together, and that will be after next Saturday. If I get hold of the thing you want, I'll have to pass it on directly. I can't keep it about me."

"The quicker the better. Bring it straight to me."

"Yes, sir, but I can't bring it all the way to New York. I mightn't be able to get away. It wouldn't do."

"What do you suggest then?"

"I suggest this, sir. Give me a telephone number which will find you for sure, between six and eight every evening, from Sunday on. When I see my chance is good, I'll ring you and say 'Stand by,' giving you a time. Nothing more to be said than that. You stand by at the time I give, and have a car ready.

"If all's well, at my second ring, I'll say 'O. K.' and give you the place to come to, and you should come straight away to that place where I'll hand you the stuff and we need never see each other again. Of course, if I fail, I fail. That's all there is to it."

"What place do you propose?"

"I'd rather leave that to the last, sir, for I can't fix on one yet. It's a mistake to name the place beforehand. You never know. Somebody might get wise to it."

Ames thought rapidly.

"That's fairly sound," he said. "Here's a 'phone number to find me. I'll give you a week. Incidentally don't try any tricks with me. I am a very unsafe person to play tricks with, and always cover myself carefully."

Talbot smiled and shook his head.

"I do not attempt tricks, sir, in business. I have observed that people who do, seldom prosper," said he.

"I have no doubt you will die a rich man, Talbot," said Ames. "Your views are sound. But the chief essential in this affair is speed. Get busy."

(To Be Continued).

Jardine Urges Mass Marketing in Farming

Secretary of Agriculture Says Principal Trouble With Industry Is Distribution System.

Jamesville, Wis., Jan. 20.—One of the principal troubles with the farming industry is the system which disseminates the products from the farm and distributes them to producers, Secretary of Agriculture William Jardine told a farm meeting here.

"One of the stifling things to farming is high taxes. There is sufficient wealth to adequately support all of our institutions without placing a burden on agriculture," Jardine said.

"There is too much visible wealth."

The secretary of agriculture advocates mass production, mass marketing, reduction of overheads and advertising as some of the cardinal things to be brought about to relieve agricultural depression. He also advocates diversion of agricultural interests.

M. V. Club Meets at Dale Carver Home

Members of the M. V. Club and their families met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Carver last Friday. The men helped Mr. Carver cut wood and the club members served dinner at noon cafeteria style. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Knisley, Mr. and Mrs. Will Kluth, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Smith, Fleta Smith, Will Sherlock, John Sherlock, Albert Mitchell, Vern Claypool, Jesse Tanner, Ray Carver, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Carver and Darlene Carver. The regular club meeting on Jan. 15 was postponed until Jan. 22 when the members will meet with Mrs. John Meeks.

"BUILD ROADS ON PAY PLAN"

PIEPMEIER SEES ALL-WEATHER SYSTEM BY 1931.

GIVES PARTING ADVICE

Retiring Chief Engineer Tacitly Opposes Bond Issue.—Final Completion Later.

Jefferson City, Jan. 20.—In his last appearance yesterday before the house roads committee, B. H. Piepmeier, former chief highway engineer, who has directed the Missouri road building and maintenance program the last five years, virtually indorsed a pay-as-you-go system of finishing the state highway system.

The last of the 60-million-dollar road bonds voted in 1920 will be exhausted in the contract letting January 28. A problem confronting the legislature is whether to submit in 1928 a new bond issue of approximately 100 million dollars or continue with less speed on a pay-as-you-go basis with funds collected from the state registration fees and the 2-cent gasoline tax.

Without an increase of the present registration fees or gasoline tax, and with no new bond issue, Mr. Piepmeier told the house committee the entire 7,640 miles of state system could be converted into all-weather roads by 1931, but not finally completed for several years more. With a bond issue of 100 million dollars, he said, the present road building program could be finished entirely in 1931. This could be accomplished without increasing the present highway department organization. The last two years the construction program has called for the expenditure of 25 million dollars annually.

House committee members listened intently as the retiring chief engineer, the best informed person in Missouri on state roads, pictured in detail the great road-building program. He said it marked the greatest period of development in the state.

Suggests Some Law Changes.

Mr. Piepmeier had a few recommendations to make for changes in the present laws. They were:

A highway department building to provide adequate facilities for offices, laboratories and drafting rooms, now scattered from the top floor to the basement of the capitol.

Legislation to control busses and motor trucks, about half of 1 per cent of the total highway traffic, which damage the road and endanger private motorists.

Authority for the highway commission to fix the salaries of all highway department employees so as to maintain an efficient organization.

Change the county apportionment plan under the present law.

The former highway department official told the committee he believed from the experience of other states the point of saturation for motor cars in Missouri virtually would be reached in 1931. There is now one car for about every 5.6 persons. He believed the point of saturation would be about one car for every three persons, possibly a few less. When the expected maximum number of motor cars is attained in 1931, Mr. Piepmeier says, there will be about 15 million dollars annually to spend on new road construction.

The former chief engineer said it was impossible to estimate accurately the cost of completing the present road system of 7,640 miles. He pointed out how increased traffic needs might force the substitution of different types of construction.

"Five years from now we may need 100 million dollars to complete the system," he said. "It is impossible to predict five years ahead. But I can say that with 35 million dollars after this year we can provide an all-weather system, in some place with a 9-foot concrete slab and others with four inches of gravel."

Department Overhead Is Low.

Mr. Piepmeier proudly pointed to the fact that the overhead cost last year on the highway department was only 3.2 per cent. He said it might have been 15 or 25 per cent without a loyal, efficient department. Mr. Piepmeier added there might have been graft and theft of public funds except for the high character of men employed in the big state road building program.

The former chief engineer believed the state road system mileage should not be increased materially, that the Missouri program was larger than in most states. In most states, he pointed out, it was believed inexpedient for the state to undertake to build and maintain more than 7 per cent of the public roads. There are slightly more than 100,000 miles of public roads in Missouri.

"We now have 3,500 miles of the state system completed to our standard," Mr. Piepmeier said. "In addition we have 1,600 miles graded, ready for surfacing, with the bridges in. There is another 1,500 miles of all-weather roads partly improved."

Mr. Piepmeier said that if the highway commission was given more latitude in spending its funds, rather than held down to the present apportionment plan among the 114 counties, the bad places in the roads could be improved more rapidly and better service given.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Gives California Tip to Drive Out Mice; Raise Skunks

Rushville, Mo., Jan. 20.—What California needs to rid mice-infested sections of their pests is a colony of skunks, according to Lewis F. Gingery.

In advocating a state skunk farm, Gingery asserted his study of the problem has led him to the conclusion that mice abound where skunks, weasels and foxes are almost extinct.

"If these animals are permitted or encouraged to live in greater numbers, they would keep communities free of mice.

WORKMAN CHAPEL

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bays and children were callers at Mack Ulmers Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Piveral spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives at Hopkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kluth and Jay Pierson and son spent Sunday at the Charles Pierson home.

Misses Maye Pierson, Irene Koger and Dale Pierson attended lodge at Wilcox Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Workman were callers at Edd VanPelts Sunday evening.

Miss Jane Swinford spent the week-end with her parents at Arkoe.

Misses Irene and Pauline Koger, Maye Pierson, Cecil Hayes, Raymond Porterfield, and Lewis Wallace spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Sid Ewing.

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Tanner spent Sunday with Mr. Tanner's parents at Arkoe.

Thirty-five were present at Sunday School at the Chapel. The Reverend Mr. Ragsdale filled his regular appointment at the church Monday evening.

Irvin Perry sawed wood for Mack Ulmer and Alma Koger Monday.

Maye Pierson spent Monday with the Koger girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Staples of Burlington Junction were Sunday dinner guests at Mr. and Mrs. Joe Workmans.

A bunch of young people enjoyed a skating party on the Bert Mitchell pond Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Geo. Staten, and Mrs. Carl Staten, entertained a number of young people Tuesday evening in honor of Robert Staten, it being his birthday anniversary. Games were played and music was enjoyed through the evening. Refreshments of peaches, whipped cream and cake were served to the following: Misses Pauline and Irene Koger, Maye Pierson, Beatha Calhoun and Edna Gray, Cecil Hayes, Raymond Porterfield, Harold Gray, Robert Staten, Mr. and Mrs. Doake Staten, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Staten and son and Mr. and Mrs. George Staten.

Good Hope

We are having real winter weather.

We hear that Mrs. Rant Holmes and Mr. Weaver are better. Both have had pneumonia.

Last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Ulmer and Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Harris drove over northeast of Hopkins to help Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gray celebrate Mrs. Gray's birthday—a surprise on her, and Saturday the Ulmer's and Harris' entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Morehouse and grandma and D. P. Jones and John in the Ulmer home to a mighty good dinner, the kind Mrs. Ulmer can prepare.

Last Thursday evening the Highland Local Farmers Union family decided to treat themselves to an oyster supper next Thursday evening.

John Jones is about the busiest man we know about, keeping him busy the last day or so with the chores of John Morehouse and W. D. Jones, the men both having very hard colds.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Frank Davis had to be operated upon again last Saturday in St. Joseph. We heard Tuesday that she is getting along as well as could be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hutcherson and Miss Christina and Alvarado were Sunday dinner visitors in the John Morehouse home.

We had a good Sunday School at Good Hope last Sunday morning and good preaching at 2 p. m. The District Superintendent Robinson gave us a fine sermon. Come next Sunday and continue to add to our Sunday School, also other services.

Bedison

Mrs. A. A. Schaefer and children went to Maryville last Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Snyder and family were in Maryville Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Logan and children, Evelyn and Wilton, went to Maryville Saturday evening.

The revival is still in progress at Bedison. Rev. Thomas Walton is in charge. There has been three conversions to date: Ralph and Emmett Carmichael and Heth Mozingo.

Our Sunday school, which has been a contest for membership of more students has made some gain but did not reach its goal of fifty. Let's try it again next Sunady—every student who was present last Sunday try to bring one new member this Sunday.

Boys and girls get your parents to come, too.

Get busy "Blues"! Get busy "Reds"!

Robert Williams, who spent the Christmas holidays at his home in Kansas City, has returned and re-entered school Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swearingen and sons were shopping in Maryville, Monday morning.

Miss Lena Mozingo visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Clester and daughters Pauline and Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gwinn and son Matt Clay made a drive to St. Joseph Saturday, returning Sunday.

Fred Dodd, the Bedison merchant, made a business call to Maryville, Tuesday afternoon.

Hopkins Man Plans to Build Swimming Pool

(Hopkins Journal)

If given some encouragement, Charley Hanna, owner of the beautiful little private park at the northeast edge of Hopkins, might be persuaded to build a swimming pool as he has an ideal spot for one and it could be built without a great deal of cost.

He plans to make a big lake at the west edge of the park and by spending a little more money, a sanitary swimming pool could be built. It is something Hopkins needs and we believe it would be patronized to an extent that would insure the pool to be a paying proposition the same as pools are in Maryville, Grant City and other nearby towns.

C. E. Paul of Bedford, Ia., was in Maryville today.

C. R. Hastings Buys Out Albert C. Mart

Bethany-St. Joseph Bus Line Now Owned by Maryville Man.—Hastings to Buy Another Bus.

(Bethany Republican)

The Albert Marts bus line between Bethany and St. Joseph, in operation since March 22, 1926, was sold Friday to C. R. Hastings, owner of the rival Safeway Stage Lines motor transport service between the two places. Hastings takes over the Marts line today.

Marts sold only the good will and right to the route, retaining the large Buick sedan which he has been operating between the two points. He announces he will begin operation of a bus line between Jefferson City and St. Louis. He will go at once to Jefferson City to begin this service, but will make his headquarters at St. Louis. His family will be moved there later from St. Joseph.

Hastings will continue to operate on the Marts schedule, which means that Bethany still will have two passenger motor conveyances each day to St. Joseph. The Safeway Stage Lines bus leaves here early each morning and returns to Bethany late in the evening. The Marts bus line has been arriving here from St. Joseph about 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon and leaving for St. Joseph again early in the afternoon.

According to good information, it is probable Hastings will buy another of the large deluxe Studebaker busses before summer, and that it will be the vehicle used on the Marts schedule.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Although news on exports was bullish, wheat made only fair response on the Chicago board of trade today, with the close but fractionally higher than yesterday. The cash was steady.

Corn held fairly steady, with commission houses buying on the dip. The cash market was ½ cent lower.

While fairly active, oats held within a narrow range, with the close fractionally higher than Wednesday's prices. The cash market was ¼ cent lower.

Provisions closed higher.

DEMOLAY TEAM HERE TOMORROW A PICKED SQUAD

Kansas City High School Stars Compose Heart of America Five.—Are Leading League.

"We don't say that we cannot be licked but we do say we can give any team of our class a good run for their money and furnish some real entertainment for the crowd," is the way Clifford Tozier, business manager of the Heart of America Chapter of Kansas City DeMolays, puts it to the Maryville High School reporter, relative to the game tomorrow night they play here with the Spoofhound basketball squad.

Coach C. W. Croy, commenting upon Mr. Tozier's communication, said, "They may have some record athletes, but they have to show us."

The DeMolay team started out three years ago, playing the entire season of some twenty games without a win. The second year they played a fine season in the DeMolay eight-team league, finishing third, the famous Ivanhoe team being the winner.

This season the squad, playing in the same league, is holding the lead, having won all league games thus far. The only defeat suffered by the first string so far this year was at the hands of the champion Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia. The team is in splendid shape to meet the Spoofhound team and gives great promise. It has won all its league games this year by doubling the score.

The exact line-up is not known by the sport officials of the Masonic Temple at Kansas City, but they plan to bring eight men with them.

Those who will make the trip here are:

Virgil Jones, letterman and last year's captain of the Northeast High team. He is captain of the DeMolay team now. Jones is a flash at either forward or guard and is the most consistent man on the squad.

George White played a good game in the Independent League last year. This is White's first year with the Heart of America team. White is second on the squad this season in scoring.

William Richardson, six feet, two inches in height, is high point man of the team. Richardson played last year in the Independent League, and there was the leading man also. Richardson's position is center.

Herschal Martin, letterman of Manual High and Western champion swimmer of the A. A. U., is judged to have the best physical development of any young man in Kansas City for his age. His play at guard is fine and to get through him doesn't mean the player is rid of Martin's lightning blocks.

Ted Goelz, another letterman of Manual High, is almost another Martin in build. His guarding is spectacular. Goelz plays as rigid a game at guard as Martin, and the two make a pair of guards any coach would be glad to have.

Joe Lapin, letterman of Northeast High and former member of the Kansas City Junior College squad, is a fine guard and can always be relied upon to fill a vacancy in the guards' berths.

Graydon Kirk is a fine relief man as guard or forward. "Dub" is playing his first year with the squad. Although not very large he has a way of covering the floor that makes the rest of the squad look like hopeless prospects.

Lawrence Sanders is playing his third year as forward. Sanders, especially in the last three games, has made a good showing.

Ill With Influenza.

Miss Bertha Parrish, secretary at the county health office, is ill at her home on First street, with influenza.

4 Above This Morning.

J. R. Brink, official weather observer, stated the lowest temperature this morning was four degrees above zero.

Miss Trullinger Better.

The condition of Miss Laura May Trullinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Trullinger of Maryville, who underwent an appendicitis operation in St. Joseph last Saturday morning, is better. Miss Trullinger is attending the Nurse's Training School of the Missouri Methodist Hospital there.

Youth's Morals Not Affected by Modern Skirts

Greeley, Colo., Jan. 20.—Skirts as worn by modern women affect the morals of slightly less than half of the present day youth, if a questionaire answered by men students in the sociology classes of the Colorado State Teachers college is any criterion.

And if the answer to the question made by the women are taken as a guide then "knee-kissing" skirts have little or no effect on youthful morality.

Another question concerned the single standard of morality. An overwhelming majority of both men and women voted in favor of moral equality for both sexes.

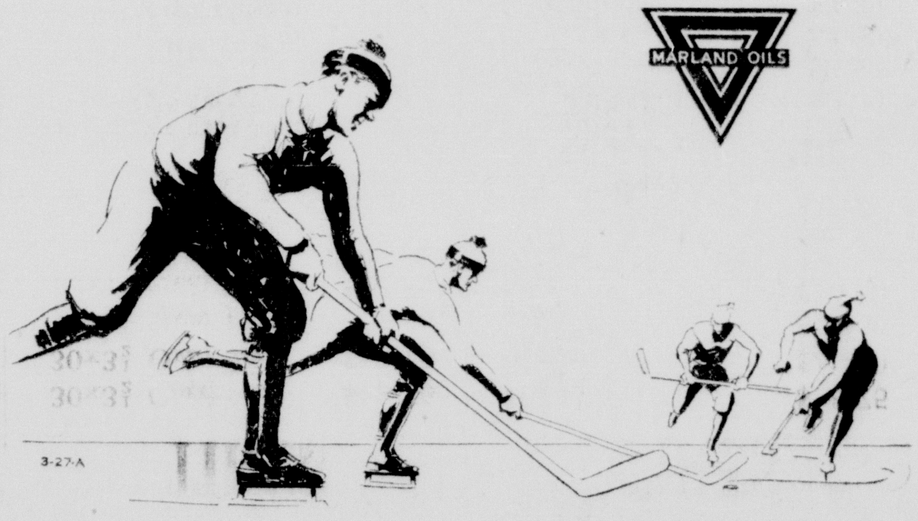
MARLAND team-mates



Goals Are Made By Team-Work

ALL THROUGH life we find it--Team-mates working together, accomplish a given purpose. One, perhaps doing the thing that shines in the spotlight, the other supporting that the goal may be made.

Marland Super Motor Oil and Pressure Gasoline are ideal Team-mates. Marland Pressure Gasoline flashes out in front with its quick starting, more power, no knock, less carbon features. Back of this is Marland Super Motor Oil--refined from choice Mid-Continent Crude under patents that are exclusive to Marland--hidden away in the crank case but silently, efficiently doing the necessary job of satisfactory lubrication.

Separately they are the best of their class. Together, they are unbeatable and give you the most complete, satisfactory motor service it is possible to attain.

Of course, you want this wonderful combination. You will find it at the Sign of the Red Triangle that marks Marland Stations and Marland Dealers.
